Listing details

Common

Title: Euphorbia tithymaloides (Devil's Backbone)
Price: 300.00
Description: 300.00 pesos per potted plant

Euphorbia tithymaloides is a succulent, perennial shrub widely cultivated as an ornamental plant. Native to the Americas, this species has been introduced in Africa, Asia and Oceania, occurring on rocky soils in dry, sunny habitats such as hillsides, wastelands and roadsides.

Withstands drought, but sheds leaves under extreme dryness. Moderately salt-tolerant. Prefers well-drained soils with medium fertility. Propagate by stem cuttings. Acrid sap from damaged leaves, stems and roots may irritate skin, toxic if ingested.
