Common

Title: Codiaeum variegatum (Variegated Croton)
Price: 300.00
Description: 300.00 pesos per potted plant

Croton is an erect tropical evergreen shrub reaching heights of 8' but more commonly 3'. It is a popular house shrub plant grown for its variously colored foliage or used as an exterior foundation plant, hedge, specimen plant where it is protected from frost.

Leaf variegation of yellow, red and green often changes with age; leaf shape variations often popular. The white blooms are insignificant, not showy.

Prefers high light, direct sunlight; prefers dry soil and low to medium relative humidity. Water it liberally from spring to autumn, sparingly in winter. Increasing light exposure will increase variegation. Mist leaves regularly, daily if possible.

A milky white latex sap that exudes from damaged leaves or stems can be an irritant to soft tissue, causing itching and swelling. Wash your hands thoroughly when handling plants and keep hands away from the eyes.
